

DESIGNATING LAKE AT CHIEF JOSEPH DAM IN STATE OF WASHINGTON AS RUFUS WOODS LAKE

JUNE 25, 1952.—Referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed

Mr. BUCKLEY, from the Committee on Public Works, submitted the following

[To accompany S. 1989]

The Committee on Public Works to whom was referred the bill (S. 1989) to designate the lake to be formed by the waters impounded by the Chief Joseph Dam in the State of Washington as Rufus Woods Lake, having considered the same, report favorably thereon without amendment and recommend that the bill do pass.

The site of the Chief Joseph Dam is on the Columbia River in the State of Washington. This is a power and navigation dam under construction by the Corps of Engineers.

S. 1989 would designate the body of water behind the dam as Rufus Woods Lake in honor of Rufus Woods, now deceased, who was a highly respected publisher and one of the public power and reclamation pioneers of the West.

The committee is advised that the bill has the support of interested groups and individuals of the Pacific Northwest.

Reports filed with the Senate Committee on Public Works from the Department of the Army and the Department of the Interior indicate they have no objection to the provisions of the bill.
